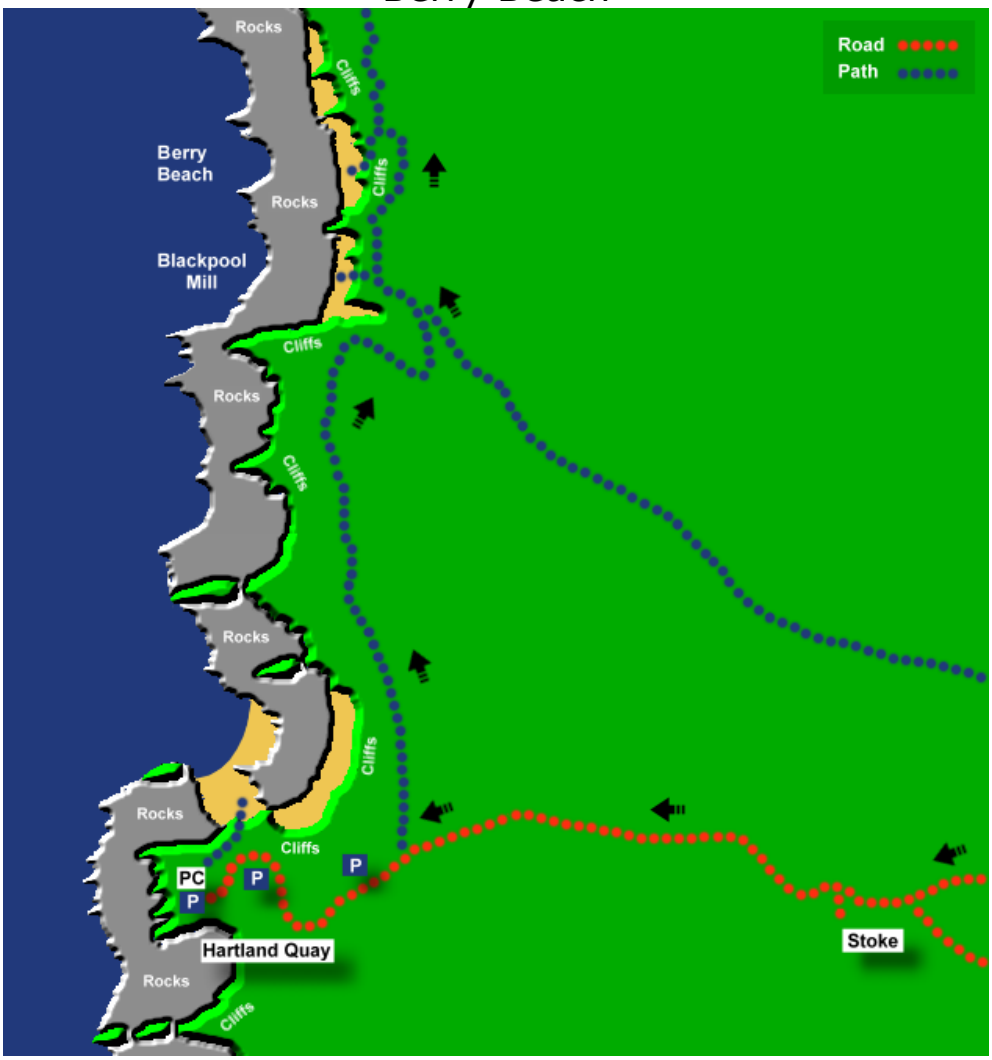
Berry Beach



- Description:Berry Beach (also known as Blegerry Beach) is a long pebble beach with rocks at low tide, on the Hartland peninsula in North Devon. The beach is usually quiet as the only access is via footpaths. There is no vehicular access from Blegberry Farm.
- Safety:No details available.
- Access:The nearest car park is at Hartland Quay. From Hartland Quay, Berry Beach is about 30-40 minutes walking on the coast path which is very steep in places.
- Dogs:Dogs allowed all year.
- Directions:Hartland Quay is 16 miles from Bude (in North Cornwall) and 16 miles from Bideford. Take the A39 north from Bude or west from Bideford. From either direction there are several turnings onto the B3248 (signposted to Hartland). Follow the B3248 to Hartland village. Drive through Hartland village following the sign posting to Hartland Quay. Follow this road out of the village then through the village of Stoke and then to Hartland Quay. At Hartland Quay, take the coast path north for Berry Beach.
- Postcode:EX39 6DB. (Hartland Quay).
- Parking:No parking. Park at Hartland Quay.
- Toilets:No. Toilets at Hartland Quay.
- Facilities:None.
- Activities:None.